CINDERELLA

Once upon a time there was a wife of a rich man fell sick, and soon she closed her eyes and departed. Everyday, Cinderella went out to her mother's grave, and wept, and she remained pious and good. When winter came the snow spread a white sheet over the grave, and By the time the spring sun had drawn it off again, the man had taken another wife. The woman had brought with her into the house two daughters, who were beautiful and fair of face but vile and black of heart. Since then a bad time for the poor step-child began.

One day the King gave orders for a festival and all the beautiful young girls in the country were invited, in order that his son might choose himself a bride. When the two step-sisters heard that they were to appear among the number, they were delighted, called Cinderella and made to help them grooming, Cinderella obeyed, but wept, because she too would have liked to go with them to dance, and begged her step-mother said "you cannot go with us, you have no clothes and cannot dance."

When the step-mother and her daughters had gone away, Cinderella went to her mother's grave and cried, Shiver and Quiver, My little tree, silver and gold throw down over me." Suddenly a bird threw down a magnificent gold and silver dress to her, and were golden too. At the party her step-sister and the step-mother however did not recognize her, and thought she must be a foreign princess, for she looked so beautiful in the golden dress.
